WOMEN ADVOCATING FOR WOMEN

The women attorneys of Williams Family Law: Maris Weiner, Susan Smith and Shauna Quigley

Susan Smith, Maris Weiner and Shauna Quigley are more than just accomplished attorneys. They are a go-to resource for women all over the area who want an experienced and compassionate advocate in divorce, custody, spousal support, and other family law areas. It is important for many women confronting these issues to have someone who is exceedingly qualified, uncompromisingly assertive, yet empathetic,” noted Susan Smith, a partner at Williams Family Law. “For many women, that is only found in the confidence and trust of another woman.”

Smith, who left a large national law firm to merge her practice into Williams Family Law in 2016, understands that need from a dual perspective. She personally experienced divorce and knows how to make the transition a peaceful, fair one while amicably co-parenting. Also, as a family law practitioner for over 30 years, she is a keen legal tactician and stalwart courtroom advocate. Therefore, if prevailing is the goal, she is ready.

Similarly, Maris Weiner is known as a skilled litigator. She brings over 20 years of experience that includes complex cases with high-net-worth individuals. She has a reputation for being hardworking and pragmatic, guiding clients towards realistic outcomes and practical solutions. Clients remark on her tenacity and unwavering dedication to their financial and emotional well-being.

Shauna Quigley is known for her compassion and understanding with impressive trial skills bolstered by a background in civil litigation. Before entering private practice, she gained invaluable experience as a judicial law clerk in the Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas.

Williams Family Law Founder & Managing Partner Jeffrey Williams has nothing but praise for the three. Not just for their professional accomplishments, but their leadership and responsibility. “Not only are they tireless advocates for their clients, but they also work to make a difference in their communities and are well known for their volunteerism.”
